Loss of the "Wolfe"—The Captain's Story.

MEMPHIS, August 24.—The steamer Julia arrived here at 11 o'clock to-day bringing most of the survivors of the ill-fated steamer Ike C. Wolfe. Among them is Captain Henry S. Carter, her commander who was considerably bruised about the head and left leg. Captain Carter states that a short time before the explosion he had gone to his room to take a nap, and the first he knew of the accident he felt himself lifted into the air with a severe shock, and then he fell with the debris on the lower deck. As soon as he could extricate himself he glanced around and saw that the forward part of the cabin had been torn away aft to the boilers and that some timbers had taken fire. His first thought was to extinguish the flames, which with the aid of others, and a heavy rain which was falling at the time, he soon succeeded in doing. In the meantime those who had been slightly injured seeing the wreck had drifted near shore jumped out with a head line and made her fast, when it was found that the boat had been but little injured.

Destructive Fire in Belfast.

BELFAST, Maine, August 24.—A most destructive fire broke out at 2 o'clock to-day, the weather being dry and a strong gale blowing from the north. It commenced in Bennett's sail loft and spread with fearful rapidity along the wharves from Carter's Ship Yard and Maine Railway crossing Union street and extending to Hill street, consuming all the buildings in its southern course as far as the house of Mr Boyle on Hill street, where the fire was stayed. Over 125 buildings were destroyed, mostly wood. The whole loss is as far as can be stated to-night, is $500,000.

Fire at Eaton, Ohio.

CINCINNATI, August 24.—A fire at Eaton, Ohio this morning destroyed one of the principal blocks. Several houses adjoining on second street were badly damaged.

Railroad Casualty.

WHEELING, Va., August 24.—An accident occurred on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to-day four miles west of Cameron, by which three or four German emigrants were fatally injured, and fifteen or twenty others slightly injured.

Death of Judge Nelson of the Supreme Court.

KNOXVILLE, August 24.—Judge Thomas A. R. Nelson, Judge of the Supreme Court, died at his residence here at six o'clock this morning of cholera after an illness of two days.

Effect of the Recent Storm.

NEW YORK, August 24.—A Wilmington (Del.) dispatch states that the damage to vessels and canal barges in the Chesapeake and Delaware canal includes four schooners and eighteen barges hopelessly wrecked, while twenty-eight schooners thirty-seven barges, two tugs and one propeller steamer are stranded, and most of them more or less injured. One vessel lies four hundred yards from the canal. All craft east of St. Georges escaped without serious injury. The canal authorities hope to get them out in two weeks. Those at St. Georges may be released in a month. Many of the schooners and most of the barges, were loaded with coal.

From the Yellowstone Expedition—Two Fights with Indians.

NEW YORK, August 25.—The following dispatch was published this morning from the Yellowstone expedition:

MUSSEL SHELL RIVER, August 19.—The abundant preparation which the Yellowstone expedition made for resistance to Indians has been fully justified. The prediction of Bloody Knife that we should meet savages in the vicinity of Tongue river has proved correct. Indians were discovered for the first time about August 1st, watching our movements and prowling about camp at night. No overt act took place, however, until August 4th. Gen. Custar, with Bloody Knife and a squadron of cavalry, had been detailed by General Stanley to go on and look up a road. Having got about 10 miles ahead they halted and picketed their horses in a wood by the river to wait for the train. Two hours afterwards six Indians appeared on the plain and made demonstrations toward their camp. Dismounting, a line of skirmishers was thrown out, and the horses were saddled. The Indians were easily driven off. They proved, however, to be the decoy of a large body which was in the neighborhood waiting in ambush for the cavalry. Finding the ruse had failed the Indians, to the number of 300, boldly rode out and advanced on the grove occupied by the cavalry. General Custar had only one squadron of 80 men under command of Captain Mayler. One of the troops was commanded by Lieut. Custar and the other by Lieut. Vaukum. The men again dismounted. They extended their line in a semi-circle around the cavalry, who had the river at their back. A rapid firing was kept up at a distance of forty yards. While one part of the enemy were thus engaged with General Custar in the front, another party of Indians crawled along behind under the river bank, and tried to stampede his horses, but this was frustrated. The Indians fired the grass in several places, but failed to burn out our cavalry. General Custar defeated a charge, hoping that the main command would soon come up and assist in capturing the Indians. After three hours fighting his ammunition gave out. He then charged the Indians who precipitately fled, dropping many of their equipments. After retreating several miles they took to the Bad Lands. One man slightly wounded in the arm, and one horse wounded, formed the extent of General Custar's loss. While the fight was going on several Indians left the war party in search of stragglers. Coming upon Dr. Hensinger Veterinary Surgeon, and Ballard the cavalry sutler who were less than a mile from the column, they killed them and took their horses and valuables. Private John Ball of cavalry, while out hunting met a similar fate. In the fight two Indians were killed and several ponies. On the 8th of August four days after the fight at Tongue river we came upon the site of a recent Indian village. General Stanley directed Custar to take his cavalry numbering four hundred and fifty men and follow and punish the Indians. Custar left on the night of the 8th. At sundown of the 9th after a march of forty miles he arrived at a place where the Indians had crossed the river twenty-four hours before taking over their families on rafts. Next day he attempted to cross the Yellowstone, which, at this point is 450 yards wide. The current was too swift and deep to swim the horses and men and the attempt to cross had to be abandoned for want of axes and rope. At evening, his camp was discovered by the Indians, and next morning August 11th, at daylight he was attacked by about 800 Indians. Firing was returned for two or three hours, both parties using trees as cover. A party of 400 Indians then crossed the river above and below camp and cautiously ordered to gain the bluffs in our rear. Our men were dismounted and posted on the bluffs and received them bravely. The Indians behind the ridges kept up a fire until Gen. Custar ordered a charge. Our men then mounted and pursued them briskly for eight miles. Just at this time the train came up and opened on the Indians across the river with artillery. A few shots dispersed them and ended the fight. This battle which took place within two miles of Big Horn was a hotter one. Gen. Custar and Adjutant Ketchum had their horses shot from under them. Lieut. Braden was badly shot in the thigh. Private Battle, Gen. Custar's orderly was killed and twenty-four soldiers were slightly wounded. Well three horses killed. The Indians loss is estimated by Gen. Custar at 30 killed. Their bravery well armed with heavy rifles and bad ammunition. They were mostly Sioux and are supposed to have been under command of Sitting Bull.

WASHINGTON, August 24.—The following postal changes are ordered. Offices established—Stubblefield Stevens county, W. T. Albert Stubblefield P. M. Postmasters appointed—Christopher C. Lazarus Grand prairie Lewis county, W. T.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 23.—Mayor Alvord has received a letter from the Mayor of Portland saying that the $12,000 sent by this city for the relief of the sufferers by the recent fire has been properly appropriated and thanking the citizens generally for their liberality.

It is stated that negotiations for the purchase of the Montana by her late owners to the Gulf of California and Colorado river, in connection with the steamer Newbern, have been closed and that the steamer will soon be placed on the route.

A small sail boat capsized in the bay about 200 yards from the Howard street wharf, at 1:30 P. M. yesterday. The occupants three boys each under thirteen years of age were rescued in an insensible condition by a boat from the schooner Dutch Queen and restored to consciousness and sent home.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 25.—Oswald Krutz's nursery was partially destroyed by a fire which originated in the carriers department. Loss $4,000 insurance $2,000.

The trial of a case in the Police Court to-day developed the fact that officer McGuire, of the police force, has been guilty of collusion with some of the worst hoodlums in the city by misdirecting a fellow-officer who had arrests for their arrest. He arrested one himself and released him on his own responsibility.

A sewing machine agent from Canada in this city will go to Japan for the purpose of introducing the use of sewing machines in that country.

Wheat (new crop) is arriving quite freely, and more rapidly than vessels can take it. Eight cargoes cleared for England last week. Receipts during that time amounted to 350,000 centals, including five cargoes from Vallejo and Oakland. Much difficulty is experienced in getting wharf and store-house room.

A well known citizen of Oakland, whose name is withheld, is accused of several attempts to commit rape on a young woman who is about to be married. The reports cause much indignation in that city amongst those who are cognizant of the facts.

Interior California.

SAN DIEGO, August 25.—A Union special says reliable information from Camp Grant brings news that the military under Major Brown captured Tilley Chilly who fired the second shot at Lieut. Almy. Tilley Chilly will be sent to San Francisco. This is striking terror to the remaining bad Indians, who have more fear of imprisonment in irons than of death.

WATSONVILLE, August 25.—A daring robbery was committed this evening on the road between this place and Santa Cruz. A farmer, named John Curn was returning from Soquel. When on that part of the road known as the Sand Hills two masked men stepped from the brush, and with shot guns ordered him to stop. One of the horses became frightened and started to run when one of the robbers shot killing one horse. The men then robbed him of a watch and $20. No trace of the robbers has been found.

SAN DIEGO, August 25.—Poles are being unloaded at National City and already distributed between here and there for the Military telegraph. Building will commence on Thursday. It is expected that building commenced at Prescott this morning, according to directions.

NEVADA.

EUREKA, August 25.—Daniel Matheny this afternoon confessed that he alone killed Green. He admits that his first confession was false and exonerates Finney from taking any part in it.

BATTLE MOUNTAIN, August 25.—One ton of very rich ore from the Cornucopia mines was brought to this place to-day. It will be sent below to be crushed.

Messrs. Chiggage & Robertson of the Austin stage line made the trip from Cornucopia to this place in 10 hours with a buggy and two horses. They intend putting on a line of stage immediately.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH.

ALBANY, Ogn., August 25.—At half past eight last evening, a fire burst through the roof of a dwelling on the northeast corner of Ferry and Fifth streets owned by David Froman and occupied by G. H. Butler the family being absent and the house in charge of a Chinaman. The building is a total loss—$800, and the damage to furniture perhaps $300, insured in the Union. The fire extended to the dwelling of M. M. Hart, adjoining on the north, but by the vigorous efforts of the citizens and firemen, the latter building was saved, but with damage to the house and furniture of two or three hundred dollars uninsured.

SPIRITUALISM AND FARO

SAD FAILURE OF A BRILLIANT AND PROMISING SPECULATION.

Some years ago Mr. McGrath got quite interested in spiritualism. There wasn't much racing going on, so he could give the subject his undivided attention. He invited a friend to go with him and see Foster, or some other circulating medium, and my friend went. But he told me that it surprised him very much to see Mr. McGrath slip a full deck of cards into his pocket before starting. It scarcely seemed possible that Mr. McGrath intended to propose a game of spiritual seven-up, or to attempt to beat some unhappy ghost out of every rap he had at draw poker—which is supposed to be an emphatically blue-grass game. Well away they sailed and found Foster in. I found him but once thoroughly at home during his visit. Foster gave him his usual circular, and Mr. McGrath sat through it solemn awe and silence. Sometimes a shade of impatience was visible but his face looked radiant at the conclusion. "Mr. Foster, he said, as he laid the usual honorarium down on the table 'this is wonderful, and you deal a square game, you do. I believe.' But there just one thing, more I want you to try and if you do it and I don't give you the best farm in Kentucky my name ain't Bruce McGrath,' and down went his hands into his coat pocket and out he fished the pack of cards. There going, there a scientific bluegrass shuffle and slipping them on the table back up. "You just tell me what the first card is without turning it over and his breath came slow in expectant. Poor McGrath could Foster tell him! and Mr. McGrath turned sadly away leaving the cards behind him. If Foster could just tell him what that card was he could carry round as they slowly walked up Broadway. He paused made our everlasting fortune. He struck him with me and we chatted over two drinks in this country. And it cost Mr. Foster a trifle their hour card at Pond's and call Monaco 7 ill be Dec Dead. Mr. McGrath is he'll always be Dec Dead when he's with Foster and wants to round a section found by Saratoga Chief N. Y. Tribune.

A CAPTIVE OWL.—Last night Mr. Thomas Abraham Grator, of Bedford Farm Lower Providence township, Montgomery county, Pa., was down the following interesting. About a year ago his sons caught a large screech owl in the woods, and taken it home and confined it in a cage and placed it upon the porch. At night this bird commenced to howl in the most peculiar and dismal manner, and shortly after its capture Mr. Grator was in the habit of seeing his sons and a number of their companions in the habit of gaming, the small hours of the morning, which caused some excitement at the last general election.

CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

The chances of each of the remaining candidates has increased proportionately—say one hundredth—for there is about that many mentioned. Mr. Mallory is spoken of as an aspirant as he is considered a good canvasser. Dr. Watts of Yamhill is trying the temperance plan while Mr. Davenport is busy harvesting and his friends certainly neglecting the opportunity that they should improve. As the question is undecided. Probably all are waiting for lightning to strike them.

The county officials have most of them moved into the

NEW COURT HOUSE

Which is rapidly approaching completion. This is probably the finest for architectural beauty and most convenients arranged county building on the coast. The only thing that mars its completeness is the ungainly left handed goddess of Justice. It is evident that that portion of the ornament is a botch but no fault of the contractors. The only complaint that can be laid to them is that some of the corners are much evidently out of square lumber and the shrinkage shows.

Work is progressing favorably on the

STATE CAPITOL BUILDING

And the ancient and honorable Masonic Fraternity have been invited to lay the corner stone with appropriate ceremonies as the correspondence already published in the Oregonian shows.

The Grand Lodge will convene in special communication for that purpose and it has been suggested that the Grand Lodge be escorted by the members of the Scotch Rite in full uniform and the procession be enlarged by the military and fire companies and other associations from Portland and other places and this city. Also that the Germania and other brass bands be secured to furnish music. The procession will form at the Masonic Hall, traverse several of the principal streets, and arrive at the Capitol Building at 1 o'clock P. M., where the beautiful and imposing ceremonies will be performed after which the oration will be delivered by Hon. S. F. Chadwick. It is also proposed that in the evening there will be given a grand ball and banquet. As this probably will be the only opportunity of the kind during the lives of the present actors in the scene it is proposed to make a grand affair of it and as it will occur during Fair week the annual gathering of the people of the State there will probably be several thousand from abroad present to witness this occasion. The various sources of travel will be solicited to reduce fare to half price and thereby enable a great many more to attend. At the same time they will receive more than they otherwise would. But your correspondent will endeavor to furnish you with the programme in due time and keep your readers posted in this and other matters.

JUST IN TIME!

Our city was somewhat excited a few days since by the timely discovery of an attempt at incendiarism but prompt action was taken and probably a severe loss of property was averted. A little judicious hanging probably will be a kindness to such a wretch and would certainly be beneficial to the community at large. His preparations were complete and showed that he had studied the matter well.

FROM THE CAPITAL

POLITICAL AND OTHERWISE.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

SALEM, August 24, 18—

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The heated term which we have been undergoing is over and the temperature has become considerably so that at present writing, it is decidedly cool. There is not a great deal of excitement over the principal cause of which is that the farmers are all busy securing the remarkably abundant crop that is rewarding their labors this year. From all parts of the State comes the word that the result far exceeds the most sanguine expectation, and the prospect of paying prices will remove the chronic condition of

HARD TIMES

That has paralyzed the energies of this young State. Wheat at one dollar per bushel is a remunerative product and is far more beneficial to the country than to obtain two dollars one year and fifty cents the next per bushel. Luxurious prices beget extravagant habits and enormous extra prices are decidedly demoralizing. Wheat dollar steadily the producers can make their calculations, and escape the slavery of debt and hampered energies.

POLITICS.

Yesterday the primaries of the Republican and Democratic parties were held and both passed off remarkably quietly and some comment is made among Republicans that the primaries were rushed through so fast and so few attended, that it had the appearance of being set up and had been cut and dried. I do not know whether this was so or not on my way at the precinct where I wished to attend the meeting had adjourned a very few minutes after the hour appointed by the call for its commencement and there were scarcely enough present to fill the number of delegates. This is not all right but the bolders now with which the voters is determined I am told for such a state of affairs to exist in this city. A few persons have been in the habit of running the machine in the most arbitrary style dictating the wishes of the majority which caused some excitement at the last general election.

OUR SENATOR

A FIRST-CLASS CONTEMPTUM—A FEW CONSECRATIONS AND EXCOMMUNICATIONS.

Dr. Oregonian correspondent of the Sacramento Bee is certainly a most entertaining writer. See the manner in which he mixes sacred matters and profane things and ought to be employed.

Our Senator newly elected, is he not a fitting hero for a classic novel and his warm political partisan over-estimate which his friend could have hoped. Already his portrait and every prejudice figures in the Graphic and this anti-Oregonian newspaper furnishes a sensation that comes like a cool shower on a dry summer day within newspapers. The worst of it is that it seems to all true. The story is one of the seven wonders of Oregon, and much the largest sized of all Oregon wonders. The Arabian Nights will soon vanish from Oregon libraries and in place of such we will have Mitchell's at and the Sadie. The Fortune of Ripple will as readily rival those of Aladdin and Sinbad the Sailor never made a more surprising flight than that of Mitchell from Oregon to Washington. At 66 a school teacher seduces a girl of 16 who is his scholar, at 27 he marries her father and abandons child at 30 he defalcates with his partners and cheats cash and assets to abandon his wife and children with another woman in his company who is not his wife and at 35 pays their passage to California. They live as man and wife for several months at San Luis Obispo and in July 1860 they have three months in town drives after turns up in Oregon sworn, and wife whose wife had lately died in California and he is almost penniless and has a month old child which by the way is Sadie Hartford. When he left the East he owed John McRipple and now owes Mitchell. No one here knew Mitchell or cared at all but he soon acquired information that he had to be let out to the Legislature and he would be come the most dangerous man in the body for he is smooth and clear-eyed and well worded and modest appearing, and walk with wicked, as Mephistopheles himself. It is positively stated that Hall has his notes to the amount but I venture to say that amount would soon have been lifted and he would have gone on more than ever prosperous. Hall is natural ally to corporations and he would soon have won his heart of corporations unless one of them that had a concession did in view.

Now the question arises will he resign? Not much. The man who has lied so much and carried his head so high does not back the mast—the front of his face as well as the iron will—to brave public opinion and sit as long as opportunity favors at the Senate of the United States. As to the career here in Oregon, one cannot say it is ended or only just begun. That depends on the stock of public virtue and general patience. I imagine that he is politically dead here. But Republicans will not insist on his resignation as the Governor would appoint a Democrat as his successor and that would be worse than any of Mitchell's crimes. What a good political barrel he stuck of this is existing in this world when a corrupt political party can tolerate such a criminal as Mitchell bears in preference to [illegible] resign his place for a few months in order that the State of the United States will [illegible] the United States will [illegible] from the present [illegible] is a fraud and will be [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Loss of the "Wolfe"—The Captain's Story.

MEMPHIS August 24 The steamer Interlaken arrived here at 11 o'clock this morning, bringing most of the survivors of the lost steamer Wolfe. Among them is Captain Henry Carter her commander who was terribly bruised about the head and left leg. Captain Carter states that a short time before the explosion he left engine to look after the pumps and the first he knew of the accident he felt himself lifted into the air with a severe shock, and then he fell with the debris on the lower deck. As soon as he could extricate himself he glanced around and saw that the forward part of the cabin had been torn away, all to the boilers and that some timbers had taken fire. His first thought was to extinguish the flames which with the aid of others, and a heavy rain which was falling at the time he soon succeeded in doing. In the meantime those who had been slightly injured seeing the wreck had drifted near shore jumped out with a hand line and made her fast when it was found that the boat had been but little injured

Two hours afterwards six Indians appeared on the plain and made demonstrations toward their camp Dismounting, a line of skirmishers was thrown out, and the horses were saddled The Indians were easily driven off They proved, however, to be the decoy of a large body which was in the neighborhood waiting in ambush for the cavalry Finding the ruse had failed the Indians to the number of 300, boldly rode out and advanced on the grove occupied by the cavalry General Custar had only one squadron of 90 men, under command of Captain Moylen One of the troops was commanded by Lieut Custar and the other by Lieut. Varnum The men again dismounted They extended their line in a semi circle around the cavalry who had the river at their back A rapid firing was kept up at a distance of forty yards. While one part of the enemy were thus engaged with General Custar on the front another party of Indians crawled along behind under the river bank, and tried to stampede his horses but this was frustrated The Indians fired the grass in several places, but failed to burn out our cavalry General Custar deferred a charge hoping that the main command would soon come up and assist in capturing the Indians After three hours fighting his ammunition gave out He then charged the Indians who precipitately fled dropping many of their equipments After retaking several mules they took to the Bad Lands One man is badly wounded in the arm and one horse wounded formed the extent of hurt to Custar's force While the fight was going on several Indians left the warpath in search of stragglers Comin, upon Dr Hensinger Veterinary Surgeon and Dr Robinson cavalry sutler who were less than a mile from the column they killed them and took their horses and valuables Private John Ball of cavalry while out hunting met a similar fate In the fight two Indians were killed and several ponies On the 8th of August four days after the fight in Tongue river we came upon the site of a recent Indian village General Stanley directed Custar to take his cavalry numbering four hundred and fifty men and follow and punish the Indians Custar left on the night of the 8th We struck out on the 9th after a march of forty miles he arrived at a place where the Indians had crossed the river twenty four hours before taking over three hundred ponies Next day he attempted to cross the Yellowstone, which at the point was 600 yards wide The current was too swift and he to swim the horses and men and finally attempt to cross had to be abandoned for want of boats and rope Yesterday his camp was discovered by the Indians and about noontime, August 11th, at daybreak he was attacked by about 800 Indians Terry, who returned in the two or three hours the Indians were driven across Yellowstone, which,

A REFORM NEEDED

The situation of some of the witnesses in the Stokes case presents a strong appeal for reform in the matter of holding persons in custody as witnesses in State cases The witnesses alluded to are three boys, who, at the time of the killing of James Fisk, Jr, by Stokes, were employed as bill boys at the Grand Central Hotel, where the homicide occurred Their testimony was deemed important, and they were arrested and required to obtain bail for their appearance as witnesses at the trial of Stokes, which failing to do, they were imprisoned in the House of Detention till the trial Then, upon the close of the trial they were discharged, each receiving a small sum of money to compensate him for his loss of time Stokes, having been convicted, carried his case to the court of last resort, where, as is well known, the judgment of the court below was reversed for errors of law, and a new trial was ordered. These boys were again arrested, and have been in prison ever since, because of their inability to procure bail. Several efforts have been made by their friends to obtain their discharge, but in vain, the Judge holding, and no doubt with propriety, that the law authorizes their detention, and consequently that the imprisonment of a number of innocent persons is of less moment in contemplation of law, than the escape of a guilty one If Stokes is guilty of the crime with which he is charged, the fact that his conviction will cost these lads their liberty for a long time, and probably their situations irretrievably, is not to be weighed against the necessity for his conviction

This looks like a hard rule, and yet we do not see very clearly how its injustice is to be avoided entirely The compulsory attendance of witnesses against persons charged with crime, is essential to the ends of society and the security of life and property, and this compulsion can not be exercised without some power over the person of the witness. Pecuniary forfeits amount to nothing to a person who has no money or property, nor any immediate prospect of acquiring them Many persons, of the witnesses who are unable to obtain bail for their appearance, are persons whose personal recognizance would be no security for their attendance And yet cases have fallen under the observation of nearly every practicing lawyer, and some have witnessed many such cases, in which persons of good, sober and industrious habits have been sent to prison because, by reason of poverty, or from want of acquaintance, they could not find bail for their appearance to testify, while the person charged with crime, and against whom their testimony was required, was out on bail That this is a hardship, no one can fail to see, but no one has yet been able to suggest a practicable remedy for it.

It would be an easy thing, however, to relieve the confinement of these innocent persons a different matter from the imprisonment of persons charged with crime If the exigencies of society demand that an innocent person shall be taken away from his daily occupation and deprived of his liberty for the general good, there are reciprocal duties due from society to the individual thus called. The place of his confinement should be as comfortable and as little like a prison as may be, and his treatment should be that of a person who is making sacrifices for the general good. He is not a convict, nor a person accused, and it is wrong to treat him as such.

In this place, as in New York, witnesses held in custody are not kept in the prison with convicted culprits. The House of Detention is a place for the confinement of persons charged with crime, but not convicted. To this place witnesses failing to find bail, are committed. This is better than the system that prevails throughout Oregon, and we believe in most places in the other States, of sending witnesses into the same prison with criminals of all grades, but it is far from the ideal. The reformation has not gone far enough There is a wide difference between the status of a person accused of crime and held to answer on the accusation, and a mere witness. The law, in its tenderness toward personal rights, declares the accused shall be deemed innocent till he is tried and convicted, but he is no less guilty in fact before than after his conviction, and it is in most cases by a mere technical fiction that he is held innocent. A large majority of persons held to answer for crime, are guilty, and are so deemed from the first for all purposes except that for trial If there cannot be a separate place of confinement for each of the three classes, it would be more appropriate for persons committed to answer for crimes to be kept with the convicts than for those held as witnesses to be quartered with the actual but unconvicted culprits A reform in this matter is certainly much needed and one, too, that will not stop where New York humanity has paused

THE VIENNA SCANDAL—OFFICIAL

The investigations of Minister Jay and Mr. McElrath, into the Vienna Exposition scandal, have been concluded, and their report to Secretary Fish brings this disgraceful affair once again into prominence They find that the charges of corruption made against both General Van Buren and General Mayer are true These Commissioners, says the report, made considerable sums of money out of their positions by selling "concessions" for the keeping of bars and restaurants, etc, and for such other business as might be profitably carried on in the American division of the great exposition So shameless and open did these speculations grow before any complaint was lodged against the corrupt Commissioners, that it was a subject of common scandal throughout Vienna and among the representatives of other nations who were present Americans of character and pride shunned the Commissioners from very shame and such remarks were frequently made by American visitors when talking among themselves, as 'I wish some Commissioners would come that a man would not be ashamed to give his hand to,' 'our Commission is nothing but a pool of corruption' and others of like character The report also states that General Mayer received $30,000 for a single contract in connection with the American section of the building.

If we at home feel so keenly the disgrace of these transactions how must Americans in Vienna feel? What with our Credit Mobilier and salary steals at home and the corruption of our representatives abroad, our country's fame is certainly in a fair way to be made finally and forever secure.

General VanBuren meanwhile, remains while, appeals to Mr Fish for a suspension of hostilities till he can have time to make up his side of the case He will be ready before a great while to enter into details, when he hopes to vindicate himself before the American people He will, in all probability plead a perturbed state of mind, or something of that sort, and appeal to the public for a generous oblivion of his crimes, as it is the custom just now for scoundrels to do who have deceived and disgraced their constituencies, and then been overtaken in their rascality But the people of America, unless we greatly mistake the temper of the times, are not in the humor for this sort of thing The sham humility of Uriah Heap served its purpose for a long time, but forbearance ceased at last, and the more the villain professed to be "umble," and paraded his hypocritical repentance, the stronger waxed the anger of those he had wronged If Van Buren can make an open and manly denial of the charges against him, he can do so without begging for time, and if he can not, he would do well to learn a lesson from the manner in which the sneaking defense of the numerous Heaps and Hipples that have gone before him, have been received, and keep his mouth hermetically sealed

The Washington Chronicle (Senator Harlan's) is "striding onward" It announces that its proprietors have commenced the erection of a magnificent edifice for the accommodation of that growing sheet The building is to be six stories high and will be used exclusively by the Chronicle That journal proudly avers that also completed its new home will be the finest printing house of any in New York. This seems to be a good year for Chronicles

As will be seen by the correspondence published this morning Mrs A J Duniway has been appointed as the Oregon member of the Executive Committee on National Exhibition A postscript to this letter states that several prominent ladies of Portland will be addressed upon the subject and requested to cooperate with Mrs Duniway

Ex-Senator Henry S Foote has undertaken to narrate his reminiscences of sundry affairs of honor in which he has been engaged in past years He has fought four duels and has assisted in nine others, making the very unusual total of thirteen in one instance He will publish these bloody memories in the Harlan's Sunday Chronicle

We notice that Attorney-General Williams has just rendered a decision to the effect that no spirituous liquors can be introduced into the Indian country without the order of the War Department, and that the jurisdiction of that Department is exclusive of all other authority

The San Francisco Bulletin remarks that if there is anything more than another which is calculated to excite derisive laughter it is a political platform when presented as a guaranty of anything in the future

One of the handsomest contributions to American antiquities that has yet been made is the publication in Philadelphia of a pamphlet entitled "Rules of the Democratic Party."

TUESDAY MORNING AUGUST 1873

A CLOSE SHOT —In following out the joke started at the expense of a certain sporting gentleman of this city who prides himself much upon his skill as a marksman, a few days ago this gentleman accompanied by another sportsman started down the river hunting. Some three miles above Portland he caught sight of several ducks above the city on the west part of the day before. The skiff in which the hunter was seated was headed for the shore. On reaching the land one of the hunters was to count and secure three the timber skirting the stream and with the aid of several dogs drive the game down into the water. Our amateur crack shot remained in the skiff and kept the guns. The efforts of the hunter on the shore were soon rewarded, for presently a fine fat deer was jumped. It was closely pursued and made for the water at a point about 50 yards distant from where our sportsman was sitting with gun in hand. The hunter on shore shouted to the other to look out for the deer. Our sportsman did not require such prompting, he saw the animal and paddled towards it with might and main. When only a few yards distant he raised his gun and discharged one barrel at the deer. He noticed as the charge passing clear above the animal. Nothing daunted our hero fired the other barrel but the load went wide of the mark. Chagrined at his ill luck the foiled hunter threw down his own gun and picked up that of his companion. Strange to say notwithstanding but a few feet intervened between the skiff and the struggling deer our sportsman missed twice more. Finding that the animal was not born to die by a bullet the disgusted hunter dropped the gun and snatching up a stout club which lay in the skiff he rowed alongside the deer, and after a severe and protracted fight, succeeded in dispatching it. The affair has leaked out, and is affording the friends of the chagrined nimrod infinite sport at his expense. For a "crack shot" the joke is decidedly good. His friends unite in declaring that '——' is no hunter at all with a gun but give him a club and he can get away with the best of our hunters." Mr Blank has had to stand numerous treats on the strength of that hunt.

NEW PAINTING —Mr J H Garrigan, of East Portland, is engaged at present in painting a fine view of the Wallamet river, and a small portion of this city. The view is taken from the high point of land just east of the railroad depot on the other side of the river. The sketch embraces that portion of Portland from the Steamship Company's dock north to the limits. This view will include the boneyard boats, lower sawmill, the low range of wooded hills northwest of the city and the Wallamet river from opposite the point where the sketch is taken down for several miles until it sweeps away from the range of vision behind the hills far off to the northward. This view is a handsome one and has sufficient of the bold and picturesque to impart beauty and artistic effect. Just how Mr Garrigan will handle his subject, remains to be seen, but judging this forthcoming sketch by his past efforts, we opine that he will acquit himself with credit. This picture will be 40x60 inches.

CORNER STONE LAID —Last Saturday evening quite a crowd of persons assembled to witness the laying of the corner-stone of Raffety Bros' new building in East Portland. This will be the first brick building which has yet been erected in that city, and the event of laying the corner-stone of the new structure was celebrated with a series of impromptu ceremonies, very appropriate to the character of the occasion. The following is a list of the most important articles deposited in the stone receptacle: The DAILY OREGONIAN, Bulletin, News, Era, Catholic Sentinel, Albany Democrat, New Northwest, Pacific Christian Advocate and Oregon Church [illegible], list of officers of the Insane Asylum for the past eight years, Constitutions and By-laws of the different Lodges of Masons and Odd Fellows, a piece of music, composed and written by Mr. Tidrell, the bride of the East Portland Band; [illegible] many other [illegible] contributions from different parties.

GETTING ABOUT —Mr Taylor, the young man who is now confined to the pest house in East Portland with the small-pox, is reported to be [illegible] ing finely. He is regarded as having [illegible] and the crisis and will be able to get out in the course of two weeks, unless he should be [illegible] unfortunate as to take a relapse. We will [illegible] in this connection that no new cases have been reported to Chief Lappeus, nor so far as known not a single case has been developed within the last ten days. This is a very significant fact, and one which the knowledge of, will not fail to give satisfaction, and tend to allay public apprehensions as to the further spread of the disease. It is believed that the contagion is "corralled," and only precautions are necessary to cause its entire disappearance from the city. Such a result would be intensely gratifying to this public and to the people from afar off.

WILL TAKE THE ROUTE.—The number of steamers owned by the O. S. N. Co. enable them to keep all their boats in the best possible running trim. No sooner does one of the steamers show the [illegible] sign of the want of repair than it is ordered to the bone-yard to take its place on the ways for an overhauling, and another boat which is unoccupied takes the place. A short time ago the Ranier Train went on the ways, and the Rescue, which had been repaired some time since, took her place. Last evening the steamer Dixie Thompson, which has been rendering effective service for a long time, was taken to the boneyard for a short time. She will be repainted and put in good trim. During the time the Dixie is undergoing these repairs the Ranier Star will take the place on the Portland-Astoria route.

BELL MUSIC.—Protection Co No 4 moved a few weeks ago into their temporary wooden building near the corner of Jefferson and First streets. Only a few days since they hung the bell which has so long rendered service in the small wooden belfry, just to the rear of the wooden building. This bell stood the fiery ordeal of the 2d and came out unbroken. When the tower gave way the bell fell a distance of about 40 feet and strange to say, was not cracked. The intense heat and fall broke off the rotary yoke. Since the fire the old bell has been removed from the debris, cleaned up and elevated to its present position. It is highly prized by the company from the fact that it has escaped the fearful holocaust, and its clarion tones bid fair to ring alarms for many years to come.

HEAVY GRAIN —Mr N W Smith, who owns a farm several miles southwest of the city, cut the present season a small patch of oats of the "Enterprise species. The oats attained an unusual height, and were very prolific as to yield. Subsequently Mr Smith has had the oats threshed. On an average the entire yield will weigh forty seven pounds clear of the sack, which may be regarded as rather extraordinary. Usually oats will range from forty to forty three pounds to the bushel.

SOON READY —A number of workmen are still engaged in overhauling the steamer Governor Grover. Throughout this steamer is being overhauled, and will be placed in the very best possible condition before taking the line again in order to meet the increased volume of trade and travel during the coming fall and winter. The work is moving forward so rapidly that it is the expectation of the company to have the boat ready to commence running by or before the 1st of September.

BIDS OPENED —A number of bids were opened yesterday in the office of Colonel Batchelder of the Quartermasters office of the Department of the Columbia for the furnishing of supplies of oats barley and hay for the military post at Camp Harney. No contract was awarded to any of the persons bidding as a number of sealed proposals are to be opened in a few days at Camp Harney for supplying the same post with the above mentioned articles.

FREE LECTURE —Mr B F Underwood late of Boston will deliver a free lecture in Oro Fino Theater this evening commencing at 8 o'clock. His subject will be "A true Christian portrayed and contrasted with a live practical man of the world." This is the last lecture which Mr Underwood will deliver in Oregon during his present visit.

DECISION TO BE RENDERED —In the United States District Court Judge M P Deady will deliver an opinion in the case of Eliza F Roff et al vs George Flavel et al this morning at 10 o'clock.

DELEGATES —The following are the names of the delegates elected to represent the Republican party of Portland in the County Convention which will be held on the 4th inst:

Last Portland Precinct—Hilary Cason, C W Johnson.

First Portland Precinct—J B McMillen, Clark Hay.

Second Precinct—Coleon Sullivan, Robert Hislop.

DUPLICATE LOCOMOTIVE —The boat Belle Star was passed yesterday at Kalama by the Astoria steamer. The Belle Star at the time was having a large locomotive on board, and from the dock which it was to be delivered to the Northern Pacific Railroad. To the casual observer it was impossible to tell which was the duplicate, the two looking alike in every particular.

A report was read from the Committee on Streets and Public Property to whom had been referred the matter of the vacation of certain portions of the Powell valley road and Taylors Addition. The Committee reported by ordinance which came up under its appropriate head. The report was adopted by the Committee was adopted.

The same Committee also submitted a report in relation to the matter of the petition of Hamilton and others asking for reports to be [illegible] and Water streets. The Committee reported favorably and recommended that the Auditor and the Street Commissioner be instructed to have the necessary reports made at once. Report adopted.

The same Committee also reported favorably on the report of the Street Commissioner which matter was referred to them some time ago. The Committee recommended that the Commissioners report be received and also that the several claims included in the report be [illegible] from the special fund. Report was adopted.

A PASTOR'S INDIGNITY SPEAKING —The Boston Traveller relates an incident which lately occurred in a village church in New England. By invitation of the regular pastor, a divine from the city filled the pulpit on a recent Sunday delivering an able and eloquent extemporaneous discourse much to the gratification of his auditors, but as to what to the denomination of the regular pastor who is adapted neither by nature nor education to extemporaneous speaking and consequently always reads his sermons. On the following Sunday he entered the pulpit as usual announced his text, and, much to the surprise of his listeners deliberately closed the Bible and proceeded to speak extemporaneously. For about ten minutes he moved along nicely and his hearers were charmed with the change, but then in the middle of an eloquent period with hand outstretched and attitude perfect he hesitated, his arm dropped he could not collect his ideas, and perceiving that something must be done at once said: "Brethren let us hold a prayer meeting."

Mollie Jones and her brother, living on a farm near Shipman Hill worked a potato patch together but fell out on the question of a division of the proceeds. A stand up fight was agreed upon to settle the matter and with the father of the family as referee and the mother as bottle holder Mollie polished off her brother until he couldn't tell potato from a pumpkin.

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL.

Mr. Geo. B. Waldron, wife, and troupe, closed an engagement at Salt Lake City a short time since. They have gone to Denver to play an engagement.

Availing of an invitation yesterday to hear Madame Laura Agnes Stephenson give a private entertainment in the presence of a select number of persons we repaired to the Masonic Hall at 10 o'clock. As specimen efforts in the artistic line Miss Stephenson rendered several vocal and instrumental selections both with power and effect. Although the lady labored under a combination of disadvantages, she acquitted herself in a very pleasing and creditable manner. The large Chickering piano used in the hall, unfortunately was out of order, no piano stool could be procured, and the accoustics of the room unfavorable in consequence of being empty. The music rolled from side to side, the reverberations producing a confusion of sounds which destroyed the effect, in a great measure, of the selections. Under such disadvantageous circumstances it would be unjust to the lady to attempt to give a candid and impartial opinion as to her merits vocally and as an instrumentalist. From the selections offered however, we feel warranted in saying that Miss Stephenson is a pianist of no ordinary merit, and a vocalist possessing a voice of great compass, remarkable flexibility and a large measure of cultivation. She plays with brilliancy, and sings with great ease. Her touch is exquisite and execution without fault, and in vocal renderings the seeming deficiency in richness of tone and that round, full volume, for which some singers are noted, is compensated for by a cultivated finished touch at once charming to the ear. This evening Miss Stephenson will make her debut at Masonic Hall before a Portland audience. We can cheerfully commend her to the patronage of the public.

THE TRANSPORTATION QUESTION

We have received the following communications from the Chamber of Commerce of the State of California:

The Committee on Transportation of the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco will hold a session in the city of the Chamber of Commerce commencing on August 26 1873.

Among the subjects of inquiry within the powers of the Committee the following have special reference to the Pacific coast and its interests:

Charges for transportation of grain wool ores and other staple products, especially by railroad and water and inland.

Classification of transportation charges, etc, in the interest of trade.

Effect of transportation charges by water and rail.

Extent of the production of the Pacific coast for the past five years and up wards.

Any [illegible] existing in connection with the collection of the United States.

Discrimination in charges of transportation as between way freight and through freight and as between freight of either of these classes or in respect to any other classification.

How far these charges for transportation by rail or in cases of what the staple products of the coast should be made to pay or of what is a fair return upon a fair outlay for construction repairs and running expenses having in view the public aid granted to the company.

Value and amount of the different kinds of grain produced in California and Oregon annually for the last ten years. Value and amount of the same exported from each of the ports annually for the same period. Same statistics to date.

The inquiry will not be confined to the heads but will extend to all matters of information on the subject of transportation inland or by sea.

The sessions of the committee will be public. All persons specially interested are invited to be present, and to give evidence in their possession throwing light upon the inquiry.

The co-operation of Commercial Boards and other business bodies as well as that of farmers organizations in furthering information to the committee is specially desired.

JAPAN

INSURRECTION AT FUKUOKA— RICE RIOTS BY FARMERS

The Nagasaki Gazette of June 28th says We are now able to give further information in regard to the Insurrection at Fukuoka in the province of Tukusen of which we published a rumor in our last issue The trouble began on the 18th Many farmers were assembled, as is the custom at this time of the year, to consult with the merchants in regard to the prices to be expected for the coming crop But as the rainy season has nearly passed and comparatively no rain has fallen, the prospect seemed very poor for obtaining a harvest The rice merchants would not give the price demanded, and as the taxes of the Government are quite heavy, which must be paid by the producers and sellers the farmers were in such a state that they were easily influenced by certain men one of whom is believed to be from Satsuma and another from Higo to revenge themselves upon the rice merchants and also upon the Government They proceeded to arm themselves with bamboo spikes or spears, and attacked the merchants and burned their houses

On the 20th the Japanese steamer Augusta with foreign Captain and engineer entered the harbor before the town of Hakata They were met by natives in sampans who warned them not to stop or land there They anchored for the night three miles off They saw the town and villages for miles in throughout the night.

Some from the ship landed and found the place barricaded, and were threatened with death if they attempted to proceed further in their investigations

On the 21st 10,000 men, assisted by mounted soldiers and some Satsuma Daimio retainers, attacked the castle of Fukuoka, the seat of government, and burnt all the buildings with the exception of some books, archives, &c. Only making their escape to the ships and suppose to be killed The criminals confined in the jail were all released on condition that they assisted in the insurrection The insurgents then burned the houses of all those who refused to join their and many were thus added to their number through fear They forced one rich man to give up to the money he had in his house, 5,000 yen A chest of powder was taken from a warehouse and 3,000 arms that could be found captured The native banks were also broken into.

The total force of the rebels is said to be 80,000 A detachment of ninety native soldiers was dispatched from Nagasaki on the 24th. On Wednesday night, the 25th inst, four small vessels of war from Hiogo and three Kosuntsus, to quell the disturbance. That very night a temple was burned in the place, and a city, still [illegible] were burned by those in sympathy with the movement. But no further occurred in those places. [illegible] were sent to assist the King's on account of the danger of the insurrection spreading At last accounts other neighboring provinces have risen in arms and the trouble has proceeded no further than fifteen miles above Sega.

If the report that the [illegible] district of Fukuoka has risen, with other additions, it is not impossible to believe that, as some say, the insurgents include now from 200,000 to 300,000 men and that [illegible] But either of the difficulty is not yet over, the people in Nagasaki have no cause to apprehend danger, for great allowance must be made for the exaggerated rumors. It is stated that the appearance of regular, disciplined troops will soon put down these growths of weak and ignorant fanatics.

THE PLAGUE

The Physician to the Board of Health at Honolulu in a report made to the 30th ult. to that body concerning the spread of this disease among the Sandwich Islands, says

On the whole, the natives have behaved very well. The poor have shown courage, as have their [illegible] also, but the amount of concealed suffering left behind by the energetic [illegible] of the Board, God only knows Lot natives and foreigners know that we have our full share of sorrow. We must also render full justice to His Majesty Not in one case has he tried to interfere with the action of the Board, even Mataia a relative had to be [illegible]

Within this last March [illegible] deceased over one thousand [illegible] Four hundred and ten have been of Molokai, two hundred and forty seven and one hundred and seventy [illegible] of six [illegible] one American, one Frenchman, one Welshman and three Chinamen In no case had a white or friend been allowed to take the leper

The [illegible] of Molokai now is about eight hundred, say a little over 2 per cent. of the population

We may [illegible] that by this time the disease not over fifty cases at large in the Hawaiian Kingdom They will be gradually [illegible] for the next few years, but we hope that if we do not improperly [illegible] the disease we shall keep it [illegible] control that [illegible] to be a [illegible] of depopulation Now allow me a few remarks about the disease

It is only infectious or [illegible] contagious in the true sense of the word, that is, by contact [illegible] It is [illegible] by no.

I am supported in that opinion by the whole medical world, and by personal experience.

Leprosy cannot be communicated like cholera, yellow fever, typhoid fever [illegible] person may contract the disease by various [illegible] cohabitation, smoking out of the same pipe, eating or drinking with the leper and so forth [illegible] is no danger for the foreign population, and the spread of the disease of late years should not destroy in any way the unbounded reputation of our most healthy climate. As far as the native race is concerned it is quite different.

The [illegible] habits of the natives, and their [illegible] hospitality are such that they are readily ready to catch the least contagious of dirt

notation, and thorough isolation as the Board understands it, and is carrying it out will be one of the most efficient means of arresting the progress of the disease

The most obvious predisposing causes are syphilis and its nearest cousin scrofula, also hereditary A want of variety in the diet, mostly the use of salt provisions habitation in ill-ventilated or dark houses may also be blamed The foreigner as a rule is not exposed to such influences or rather to a less degree than the natives

CAPTURE OF THE VIGILANCE —A Madrid correspondent of the London Times gives the following account of the seizure of the Spanish steamer Vigilante by Capt Werner of the German frigate Frederick Karl The Frederick Karl had determined to cruise off the port of Cartagena, and while so engaged saw a small steamer, apparently a war steamer, approaching, flying the red flag Instantly she stopped her and asked her name The Vigilante was the reply "What nation?" "Spanish" "What flag is that you are flying" The flag of the Canton of Murcia Replying that such a flag was unknown and unrecognized on the seas, the Prussian commander proceeded on board and asked for the commander of the Vigilante. The Deputy Galvez Arce presented himself and said there was no commander on board other than himself, that the party to which he belonged had seceded from the Government of Madrid and had set up a free and independent state of Murcia, with Murcia as the capital and Cartagena as the chief seaport, navy yard, arsenal, etc, that they had embarked at Alicante and had been on a mission to Torrevieja The Prussian Captain heard him out, and then remarked that as a vessel under such conditions could not navigate he was under the painful necessity of seizing her as a pirate A Prussian crew was then sent on board the Vigilante with orders to carry her into Gibraltar At the time of the seizure, Captain Werner was not aware of the decree declaring the rebel vessels pirates

The Newark (O.) Advertiser sadly mentions the fact that Tom Corwin rests in an unmarked grave without so much as the simplest headstone to indicate who sleeps below It calls upon the state which was so honored by her loved and distinguished son to rescue his grave from the oblivion which will otherwise soon blot it from the knowledge of men

While the demand for funds is more diversified than last year the supply is better and rates are easier Regular customers at the banks are accommodated on the usual terms while street loans are made at divers rates depending on the circumstances of the borrowers and the character of the collateral On first class paper we believe that large sums can be obtained quite readily but interest commissions or discounts amount to an equivalent of say 1 and 1½ per cent per annum This is too high for a healthy condition of business but for who tries to secure funds on one or two years time will nevertheless find it true Our local finances however are doubtlessly in a better state than at the beginning of the fall trade last year as we know of street brokers who not [illegible] fair paper during September and October last at 2½@3 per cent per month We believe rates for money are at least ½ and 1 per cent less now than then

Eastern advices up to the 14th show a continued plentiful condition in the money markets and reports received of a cheering character and despite the efforts of the New York clique to hull gold and corner the money market stocks are advancing and funds readily secured for all legitimate transactions Boston reports healthy demands for funds and ready supply with slightly advanced rates To all appearances judging from crop reports and taking in to consideration the fact that many wholesome and large retail firms owing to the financial stringency existing throughout the spring and summer have bought very carefully and trade must feel the effect of such caution on their part The Chicago Journal of Commerce of the date named says The banks have their funds well in hand and are discounting short business paper freely Discounts are nominal at 10 per cent, though loans have been negotiated at a much lower margin. Note brokers are taking safe risks at 1 to 1½@2 per cent per month Altogether regular legitimate transactions are safe for funds to strengthen themselves with and during the autumn if prospects is as favorable as at present, there must be a very busy season, a healthy demand for money and cheering prospects. The duty of traders at this present time is to keep their business well in hand limit their credits, and sell as much as possible for cash unity in this matter must exercise a very beneficial effect upon trade generally, and the finance [illegible] in particular"

The Hop Crop

The condition of the Hop crop on the Atlantic States is still precarious, [illegible] In some localities has improved the [illegible] All accounts go to show that the yield [illegible] will be less than last year; and it is feared the quality will be inferior At the close of July it was thought that Otsego county New York, would not turn out over 75 per cent, of the quantity [illegible] there last year. The Hop yards in Madison county, New York were comparatively free from vermin at last mail dates It is feared that the recent heavy rains in New York and Pennsylvania have damaged the vines, as Hop picking usually commences there at the close of August. The yield in California will be about the same as last year, and a few bales of new Hops have already been received at San Francisco The smallness of this product in our state renders a report less of general interest, but the industry is bound to become one of more and more importance with the lapse of time both from the large demand on this coast and the peculiar advantages of soil and [illegible]

Cotton Growing

The peculiar course of the wool trade of the United States the past spring has brought out various comments and suggestions as to the multiplied varieties and different ways of cleaning and packing. The New York Economist of a late date says

Our manufacturers want more combing wools at every year The worsted business is only in its infancy in our midst and must go on increasing from year to year We only need a steady supply of the staple to encourage the mills to produce worsted goods of a class that our people have not yet dreamed of In Australia the farmers have been watchful, and have caught up to the spirit of producing a fibre for wool [illegible] which cannot be excelled New a great part of the lands in this country are well adapted to the raising of sheep of this class. In Kentucky West Virginia and even in the interior of our own State we believe some progress has been made already in introducing sheep of this description The animals are not only valuable for their long, large fleeces, but for their large carcasses too, and we wish we could impress upon the farming interest everywhere the necessity of investing their [illegible] The wealth machinery of the country must not lay dormant if we only could get the right kind of staple [illegible] and articles could be made that we have never yet attempted

Produce Market.

Monday is always a quiet day in our produce market, and hence affords but little worthy of extended [illegible] It has been since our last report have been of an unimportant character Receipts of all kinds produce are [illegible] In the Wheat trade we do not discover any transactions or received any additional info [illegible] to cause us to change the quotations last given, though the general appears on the surface to be rather weaker Producers are evidently holding back their grain, both Wheat and Oats, the latter commanding at present 45 cents per bushel in this market The demand at current rates for both is quite fair Whether the decline in Wheat, expected by exporters, will come sooner or later is a matter which only time can reveal or whether some undiscovered combination of circumstances will keep prices up to the present standard during the shipping season Our last San Francisco telegrams show no abatement in prices or receipts at that point. We note sales of 2 000 bushels in our market at $1 67½ per cental, and 1,100 bushels at $1 70—prices obtained from sellers and contracts made the latter part of last week Buyers to-day in form us that no urgent demand is pressing them and they are content to abide their time and await the developments of the future to supply future wants. At the present unsettled state of the market exact figures cannot be given, but quotations for choice lots, as near as can be, are $1 67@1 70 per cental, sacked and delivered

Aside from the grain market, products seem to be in light receipt and quotations last given are firmly maintained with very fair demand The business outlook under this head is cheerful

DOCTOR BORZFAIB'S SMALL POX REMEDY SAMUEL TORWIN Proprietor, can be procured at all the Drug Stores in this city at the present time As this medicine is proving an invaluable boon to those afflicted with that disease no person should neglect the present opportunity of providing themselves with this valuable antidote Price ONE DOLLAR, per bottle

Portland Oregon Aug 22 1873

MR. SAMUEL COMSTOCK In justice to yourself and for the benefit of those who may be afflicted with the small pox I am induced to give publicity to the following facts About the 20th of July 1873, I became very unwell having severe pain in my head back and limbs which continued to increase in severity for three or four days a very high fever set in and I began to break out on my face neck and body with what proved to be small pox I procured Dr Eberland of the Central Drug Store a bottle of your small pox remedy Notwithstanding the severity of the attack I administered the medicine myself not in accordance with accompanying directions, but in about double doses. In three days all pain and fever disappeared My recovery was extremely rapid notwithstanding frequent exposures by moving about from place to place while in a high fever, which is generally considered fatal in that disease and it is my firm conviction that under the ordinary treatment for that disease, I would not be living to day I took of the medicine about two and a half bottles more perhaps than was necessary not wishing to discontinue until a thorough cure was effected
